Seeing the potential in every child

Overview

Thanks to the dedication of our staff, supporters, funders and board members, OneSky for all children was able to expand our reach and benefit more vulnerable young children across Asia with quality care.

During this year alone, we trained nearly 20,000 caregivers in responsive care and reached more than 54,000 children, bringing our cumulative total to:

283,425 children

75,489 caregivers

In 2022, we made excellent progress working with government and non-governmental organization(NGO) partners to develop plans for vastly scaling our work beginning in 2023. We are excited by the momentum of our programs and focused on implementing new initiatives, to ensure more vulnerable young children receive the care they need to thrive.

2022 Program Highlights

CHINA While continuing to train caregivers across the country, OneSky expanded the Family First Program and supported the government in moving as many children as possible out of welfare institutions.

- Family First. We assessed children in China’s welfare institutions to determine the best possible placement option for each child: adoption, foster care, our Family Village program or family-like care within the institution in the case of children with severe medical needs. Since the program launched in 2021, 164 children from 43 institutions have been moved into family-like environments, a 10% increase over 2021.
- National Guidance on Child Welfare. At the request of the government, we led national and provincial-level discussions on child welfare in relation to special needs education for orphaned children.

HONG KONG SAR Despite the closure of our center from January to May due to Covid-related restrictions, we stayed connected to the children and families we serve while continuing to engage with NGO partners, participate in community activities, and secure new funding partnerships. Read more >

- A New Community Hub. With the support of the Chow Tai Fook Charity Foundation, we launched a Community Hub within the P. C. Lee OneSky Global Centre for Early Childhood Development. The Community Hub will provide learning activities, outreach services, child health seminars, a caregiver lounge and more. We have expanded the Centre’s geographic reach to benefit more children and families with our services.
- In conjunction with the Yew Chung College of Early Childhood Education, OneSky organized a parent-child STEAM Carnival as part of the Hong Kong Jockey Club “CoolPlay” Project. More than 300 families joined the event which was designed to teach adults responsive care through play related to science, technology, engineering, art and math (STEAM).
- Family Skills Training Continued. Despite the extended closure of the Centre in 2022, we held 16 online and in person parent trainings.

- Designing a Pilot to Train Government Trainers. OneSky agreed with MOET to design a pilot program to train government trainers. Once MOET approves the design and funding is secured, the pilot will run for two years in five provinces and may potentially roll out across Vietnam's 18 most industrialized provinces to reach an estimated 400,000 children over the next seven years. Government adoption of our training of trainers' model is critical to scaling our programs to support Vietnam's system of care for vulnerable children. Read more >
